Car seats buyer's guide

Car Seats Buyers' Guide

Kids won't be protected by an adult seatbelt in a crash. The law says that children under 12 years of age must have a special seat if they're under 135cm in height and travelling in your car.

It's crucial that you pick the right seat — it's all about your child's size and weight. There are dozens to choose from though, so take a look at the different types of car seat.

Types of child car seat

Baby car seats — These are rear-facing seats for babies. Read the Current UK Regulations page.

Child car seats — Designed for kids who have outgrown the baby car seats, but aren't big enough for a booster seat.

Booster seats — Does your kid just need a 'boost' so that they can safely use an adult seatbelt? Then these are the right option for you.

Some car seats fall into more than one category. That's because they can be adapted as your child grows. They may cost a little more initially, but long-term, they're great value.

Car seats at SEAT

We've got a wide selection of car seats at competitive prices. Why not pop into your local SEAT dealer where our trained staff can give you expert advice, a 16-point safety demo and show you how to fit your car seat? That's all for free, so why go anywhere else? We can fit any seats bought from us for free too!

What's ISOFIX?

ISOFIX is the international standard for attachment points for child safety seats in passenger cars. All new SEAT cars are now ISOFIX prepared. This means that an ISOFIX child seat can be plugged into the fixed connector incorporated in the vehicle structure. Thus enabling SEAT child safety seats to be quickly and safely secured.
