About Apprenticeships.

Apprenticeships are a great opportunity to gain an industry recognised qualification whilst earning a wage, so they really can earn as they learn.

Not only are apprenticeships a great confidence builder, they allow apprentices to gain real life work experience and learn skills which can be transferable to any path they choose to take.

Apprentices receive a great deal of support throughout their apprenticeship, this includes a workplace mentor who they will work closely with day to day, learning the ins and outs of the role. They also receive regular visits from an assessor who will ensure their training and development is up to date.

Attending regular training intervals at training centres allows apprentices to become more independent as they spend a week away from the workplace learning a variety of different practical skills that can be put into practice on their return.
